

Finding a tutor for a specific problem is difficult because most tutors specialize in the broader subject rather than the exact issue a student needs help with.